PROGRESS OF THE WAR.—The report of the Secretary of War sums up the successes and reverses of the war to this effect:

From a survey of the whole field of operations it is apparent that whatever disasters our arms may have suffered at particular points, a great advance has nevertheless been made since the commencement of the war. When it began, the enemy were in possession of Norfolk and every port of the Southern coast. They held the Mississippi from Cairo to New Orleans. Now, the blockaded ports of Charleston and Mobile only remain to them in the [illegible] and New Orleans and Memphis have been wrested from them. Their possession of Vicksburg obstructs the Mississippi, but it is to them of no commercial use. Their strongholds on the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers have been captured. General Andrew Johnson, as Military Governor of Tennessee, holds Nashville. The enemy have been driven from Kentucky, West Tennessee, Missouri, part of Arkansas, are fleeing before Grant in Mississippi, and all their hopes of Maryland are cut off. In commercial, political and strategical points of view, more success has attended the Union cause than was ever witnessed upon so large a theatre, in the same brief period against so formidable an enemy. The Union forces are now in the field under able commanders, stronger than ever, resolute and eager to be led against the enemy, and to crush the rebellion by a vigorous winter campaign. The armies of the Potomac and of the West stand ready to vie with each other in quickest and heaviest blows against the enemy. Taught by experience the ruin of inaction and the hazard of delay, a spirit of earnest activity seems to pervade the forces of the United States beyond what has hitherto been exhibited.

Upon the subject of negro insurrection and the colonization of the revolted States, the following is to the point:

Judging by experience, no colored man will leave his home in the South, if protected in that home. All possibility of competition from negro labor in the North is avoided in giving colored men protection and employment upon the soil which they have thus far cultivated, and the right to which has been vacated by the original proprietors, deeply involved in the crimes of treason and rebellion. No great territory has been permanently reduced without depriving the leaders of its people of their lands and property. It is these that give power and influence. Few men have the commanding genius and talent to exercise dangerous influence over their fellow man without the adventitious aid of money and of property. By striking down this system of compulsory labor, which enables the leaders to control the resources of the people, the rebellion would die of itself.

Under no circumstances has any disposition to servile insurrection been exhibited by the colored population in any Southern State, while a strong loyalty to the Federal Government has been displayed on every occasion and against every discouragement. By the means suggested the rebellion may be disarmed and subdued swiftly and effectually, and the lives of our own people saved from slaughter on the battle field. By the occupation of all their forts on the Mississippi and the sea coast a market will be opened in every rebel State for the industry of our people to supply the wants of the army, and also of all loyal population, in exchange for the valuable products of their labor.

Another point of attack is by armed settlements upon the vacant Government lands in Florida and Texas. Thousands in the Northern and Western States are impatiently waiting the signal of military movement to plant their homes in the best territory of this continent, and bring it back to the Union as loyal States. So far from the Southern States being invincible, no enemy was ever so vulnerable, if the means at hand are employed against them. If your proposition for compensated emancipation, and a voluntary return to loyalty be blindly rejected, still the proper application of the means at command of the Government cannot fail to accomplish the suppression of the rebellion and a restoration of those peaceful relations which were designed to be established forever on this continent by the Union of the States.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red White and Blue
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave

FRIDAY MORNING JAN 9 1863

PEOPLE'S TRANSPORTATION LINE—Although a large amount of capital has already been invested in steamboats upon our rivers by enterprising and energetic men who have done all they could to meet the wants of the community in that behalf, yet they have so far been unable to do so, and the great drawback upon the prosperity of our State and neighboring Territory is the lack of sufficient means of transportation upon our magnificent rivers. What the country needs most at this time to develope its unlimited resources is sufficient facilities for bringing the products of the great Willamette valley to market and the expeditious conveyance of freight and passengers at reasonable rates to the rich gold fields of the upper Columbia. To this end, the People's Transportation Company has been organized, and the fact that such men as Messrs McCully, Kingsley, Coffin, Shaw and others of large capital and undoubted integrity, are among its founders and original stock holders, may be accepted by the community as a guarantee, not only that its business will be conducted with the utmost fairness, but that it will be a permanent and successful institution.

The capital stock of the Company has been increased to $2 000,0000, of which sufficient has already been subscribed to establish a line of fine steamers from this city to Lewiston and another on the Willamette river.

The by laws of the company provide that no assessments can be made upon its capital stock, so that a person taking but one share can never be required to pay more than its original cost, to wit; one hundred dollars.—This provision will effectually prevent the wealthier stock holders from squeezing out the smaller ones.

Another provision requires—and the stock is taken upon the express condition—that dividends of the profits of the Company shall be made at the end of every quarter, so that each and every stock-holder has a certainty of drawing his share of the profits of the Company every three months. Every safeguard for the protection of the stock holders of the Company has been incorporated in its by laws, and we regard the whole programme for its operations as a most excellent one.

It is well known that the merchants of the Dalles and towns above, have been for some time past discussing the advantage to them of purchasing their goods in San Francisco and having them shipped by sail vessels or ocean steamers to the Cascades. The principal argument in favor of this arrangement is, that they will avoid the present high rates of freight between this city and the Dalles, and the unfortunate delay in getting their goods forwarded to their destination, which subjects the owners to great trouble and loss, especially during the busy season of the year. This delay is unavoidable with the present limited means of transportation on the river but it is none the less annoying and vexatious to those who are subjected to it, and unless overcome will eventually and inevitably drive the principal part of the trade of the Columbia river districts from Portland to San Francisco. It is an evil more threatening to the commercial prosperity of this city than any other. We say then, that the People's Transportation Company will benefit, more or less, every citizen of this city and no class of men more than the merchants and traders.

The peculiar organization of the Company appears designed to attract stock subscriptions from small capitalists, and particularly those who have an interest in this city, at Vancouver and up the Columbia. The theory is simply this. During the busier season of the year, the means of transportation have been much too small for the demand, as the operations of last spring proved. It is assumed that there is room for the investment of more capital than is now engaged in the business, and that new a company is not necessarily bound to be in opposition to that already engaged, but to share a business which is beyond the capacity of its present facilities to execute. As this increase in the river business will turn to the immediate advantage of real estate owners here, they are expected to take an active interest in building up the line.

EXAGGERATION—We take it for granted that any statement which multiplies the true figures in regard to anything by two or more is false. Upon this hypothesis, we condemn the memorial of some citizens of Lewiston who have petitioned Congress to divide Washington Territory. It is signed by citizens of Lewiston and 'several thousand other residents of the Territory,' so it is said. The memorial sets forth that the eastern half of the Territory has at this time twenty five thousand people which we know is not true and estimates that there will be seventy five thousand in that section by next August, which we are pretty sure will not be true, and we know as much about the future as anybody, which is just nothing at all. The Congress of the United States will show wisdom by not taking any notice of a document drawn in the same spirit of truthfulness which dictated the statement about millions of pounds of gold coming out of the Nez Perces mines yearly.

Miscellaneous Paragraphs

Dr A G H[illegible] U S Surveyor General for Washington Territory [illegible] Washington on official business.

The sale of liquor to Indians at Lewiston is a common offence. The [illegible] law should be enforced in this matter.

The Beaver Head mines, on the headwaters of the Missouri, are attracting much attention in the Western States. [illegible]

Mr W[illegible] of Walla Walla valley has raised two thousand pounds of [illegible] the present season which he intends to work up [illegible]

The Call says that the troops asked for under the late requisition of Gen Wright are destined for service [illegible]. They will see active service in that quarter [illegible]

The Territorial Legislature of Nevada passed a law at its recent session organizing in that Territory a new county called [illegible] in memory of the distinguished [illegible] that [illegible] who [illegible] received in fighting to save his country.

The Walla Walla Statesman says that Mr Frank Clark of the Washington Territory Council would not act on any committee because he could not be chairman of the Judiciary. He evidently places a higher value upon himself than the President of the Council does.

Judge Blackburn of Santa Cruz, California, has packed two hundred boxes of apples for the China market. There will soon be a line of steamers from San Francisco to Shanghae when apples can be shipped to advantage to China.

The Elk City mines are spoken favorably of by miners returning from there. It is thought that they will induce a large number of miners to locate there another season. They were entirely lost sight of the past year in consequence of the stupendous yield of the Florence mines.

The Virginia City Union says that the action of the Legislature of Nevada Territory in passing the new Incorporation Law will be disastrous upon the mining interests of that Territory, and that before a year has elapsed many who favored its enactment will be clamorous for its repeal.

J L Motley the historian has sent $[illegible] to the Sanitary Fund from Vienna where he is the Resident Minister of the United States. Edward Cunningham an American merchant at Shanghae gives $1100, and James Makee of Honolulu $500 to the same fund. The patriotism of America's sons shines as brightly abroad as at home.

News from the British Possessions and the North-west

We have files of colonial papers to the 1st of January, from which we compile the following summary of news:

The steamship Robert Lowe is daily expected from England with sixty marriageable girls. The steamship [illegible] Gama is also expected shortly. These steamers will probably go on the San Francisco and Victoria line to the detriment of the American steamer lines.

From the Chronicle we take the following British Columbian news:

The dam at the lower end of the small Lillooet Lake, which was carried away last spring, is now about being reconstructed under the direction of Mr Colbrell whose engineering qualifications were so ably shown in the construction of G B Wright's road. The height of the dam from the bed of the river will be about 18 feet which will raise the lower lake about ten feet. By this work the necessity for making the little portage will be entirely obviated; the steamer will be able to pass up the rapids and carry goods and passengers from Twenty-nine mile House to Port Pemberton, a distance of about 24 miles. This will make a saving of at least half a day for every passenger traveling that route and for freight two or three days.

Messrs Golding & Co, are just finishing the hull of the first class steamer to run on the Lillooet Lakes. She is 115 feet long, and 135 feet over all—a stern wheel—engines 14 inch cylinders and 44 inch stroke. She will have a saloon, state rooms, bar, cooking galley and all the modern conveniences. It is intended that she will carry three loaded wagons on her deck besides animals, freight and a full complement of passengers.

Taylor & Co have just laid down the keel of a steamer 100 feet long. When this vessel is completed a continuous line of communication will be kept up over all the lakes, and those delays which have heretofore given so much dissatisfaction to the traveling community and resulted in serious loss to persons forwarding goods to the mines, will be entirely obviated.

The news from the new colony of Stekin is to the 27th of November, and is to this effect:

About 70 men are wintering on the river, about 40 of these are living at Snakesville.

The majority of the men stopping on the river intend to push above the Canyon on the re opening of the season; others remain to watch, and when feasible, work their claims.

Two men who had been a short distance up Nass river were wintering there. They report having struck $2 and $3 diggings and intend to prospect higher up next spring.

Skinner river the mouth of which is some 15 miles south of Fort Simpson, is attracting some attention. It is smaller than the Nass and Stekin but bars that will pay $2 and $3 per day are said to have been struck a short distance up.

Two passengers from Stekin named Phillips and Hart, brought down about $1000 in gold dust.

The Indians of Fort Simpson are greatly enraged at H M S Devastation not having brought back the prisoners she carried away (now under sentence of death), and have expressed to Mr Duncan, the resident missionary their determination to capture her if she visits them again. The Tshimseans are a warlike tribe, and it is possible that they may attempt to carry their threat into execution.

PR[illegible].—The Collector at Port Angelos Victor Smith, is a very eccentric man. Among his eccentricities, says the Puget Sound Herald is a taste for traveling at the public expense. That paper says that he asked Dr Henry why he did not go to Washington. The Surveyor General said he would like to, but could not afford it. Then the redoubted Victor answered; 'Why don't you get yourself ordered home as I do—then it would cost you nothing.' Recent occurrences show that Victor knows a thing or two and so do those he advises.

White's Fever and Ague Drops. For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure in Ague especially; one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify the statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

White's Patent Lever Trusses.—These instruments are recommended to the public as the best ever yet invented. The principle is new and differs from any other. The pad works over a knuckle giving it a circular INWARD and UPWARD motion, thus [illegible] the rupture with half the pressure required by other Trusses. The pain consequent upon heavy pressure is thereby avoided.

These instruments will not rust and are the lightest, most durable and most cleanly of all others. They can be washed at pleasure. Many persons have been cured by them of ruptures of several years standing.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

BODY FOUND.—The body of a man far advanced in decomposition, was found in the Willamette, day before yesterday, at a point a short distance below Baker's Landing. One of the residents in the vicinity came up to this city in a small boat to notify Mr Grooms, the Coroner, and he went down yesterday afternoon to hold an inquest. It may turn out to be the body of the German who jumped overboard from the Leviathan, about two months ago, and was drowned.

IN A NEW CHARACTER.—Our readers will doubtless recollect Patrick Kearney, who did not wish to be put in jail over New Year's day. This same Patrick is now in the county jail for three months. He has a companion in his misfortune, one James Dougherty, as L. J. S. Turney would say if he were writing this paragraph. It appears that Kearney got tired of bumming his liquor, and concluded that stealing it was more respectable. In this opinion, most people will agree. So he associated himself with this Dougherty, and stole a case of brandy from Strahle & Blascoll, valued at $4 50. On being brought before the Recorder, they pleaded "not guilty," which, it will be noticed, most thieves generally do, and waived a jury trial. The offence was clearly proven, and these two lovers of fine old brandy were sent to the county jail for three months apiece.

SAILED.—The bark Almatia dropped down the river yesterday morning. She took no cargo from here, but will probably load with hoop-poles and staves, and lumber from Oak Point Mills.

ARRIVED.—After infinite pains, and the assistance of two steamboats, the bark Samuel Merritt arrived at her berth at Couch's Wharf yesterday morning, at six o'clock, and is now discharging her cargo.

ENOUGH.—A few days since we were asking for rain to bring the Willamette up to a proper stage for steamboating. The recent rains have given us enough water and some to spare.

NO NEWS.—The Oregon City steamer brought no news from beyond Salem, last evening. It is highly probable that a heavy fall of rain to the southward has rendered the stage road impassable. To-morrow morning we hope to lay before our readers news to the 1st of January from the States.

DISORDERLY.—James W. Johnson was fined $5 yesterday for being disorderly. He paid the money like a man, and went on his way rejoicing.

THE PANORAMA.—By our advertising columns it will be seen that the series of panoramic views, known as Pan tecnn-theca, are to be again exhibited in this city. The prices of admittance are reduced.

Washington Territory Legislature.

The proceedings of the Legislature of Washington Territory after the holidays is not particularly interesting. The Hon. L. J. S. Turney still claims the office of Territorial Secretary, and has sent a communication to the House and Council in relation to certain books, which were presented to the Territory by the Smithsonian Institute, in which he speaks of Governor Pickering in the most disrespectful manner. We copy as follows:

The substance of the letter was, that the Territorial Librarian had, during the past summer, received a circular from the Smithsonian Institute, informing him that some valuable books (two packages) had been forwarded for the use of the Territorial Library, and that they were sent to San Francisco, to the care of A. B. Forbes, Esq. That on the 17th of June, 1862, he wrote Mr. Forbes, requesting him to forward said books by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, to Mr. Taylor, the Librarian. That on Tuesday last said packages arrived here, as he supposed, and as Mr. Taylor had no funds to pay Express charges, he, the Secretary, agreed to pay them. That on going down to the Express Office, he found that one William Pickering (!) had been there and paid the charges and taken the packages without any authority for so doing. He wished the House would take some steps to recover the said two packages of books, as they were intended for public and not private use. That the man Pickering (!) had no more right to appropriate the packages than he had to appoint a Public Printer.

A formal official protest in relation to the division of the Territory, has been introduced in the House. It reads thus:

Your memorialists—the Legislative Assembly of Washington Territory—would respectfully represent, that we have learned with deep regret that a Resolution has been introduced in the present Congress having for its object the division of our Territory, and we hereby protest against such action, deeming it unwise and unnecessary, and opposed to the wishes as well as to the present and future interests of the people of Washington—and further,—we hope that any bill which may pass during this session, having such object in view, will not receive the signature of His Excellency, the President, for which your memorialists will ever pray, &c., &c.

FOUND DEAD.—Albert G. Balch, a citizen of Steilacoom, W. T., was found dead on the road from Steilacoom to Olympia on the 28th of December. He was subject to occasional fits of insanity, and it is supposed that he fled from his house during an attack of that nature, and in fleeing from fancied pursuers tripped and fell heavily against a rock, where he laid and perished from injuries thus inflicted and exposure to the elements.

WILLAMETTES No. 1.—There will be a Regular Monthly Meeting of your Company this (Friday) evening, at 6½ o'clock.

All the world over

[illegible] it is as necessary to restore [illegible] ELECTRO-GALVANIC equilibrium, especially in California, as it is to give food to the starving. This statement is based upon a series of facts extending through many years, and verified by hundreds of patients, so that [illegible] experience, the result of [illegible] rests upon more sure and unassailable foundations than those which underlie the world-wide reputation of Electricity for the cure of all nervous states [illegible] faulty digestion, mental and physical debility [illegible] asthma, wandering pains of a rheumatic, gouty or neuralgic character, and all forms of disease, the results of a [illegible] habit of body.

It must not be forgotten by the eye and ear sufferers that Dr. Van Zandt has made these afflictions an especial study and that he is the only Surgeon in our State who has a [illegible] that branch of practice. Very many of the eye and ear troubles are [illegible] deranged nervous action, and are cured by his electro-galvanic battery—as amaurosis, squinting, cataract, floating specks before the vision, twitching of the eyelids, nervous deafness, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, giddiness, etc. All operations successfully done on those delicate organs of sense.

DR. BAKER'S
PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oil and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases. If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night, it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhoea, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected morning and night; at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea, it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

Elegant Extract.—The Brighton Observer, an English paper of a late date, contains the following elegant n[illegible] of the [illegible] and may be taken as the expression of English aristocratic opinions about this country. The style, it will be noticed, is pre-eminently English and consequently polite:

So far as England is concerned her desire must be to strengthen the South as far as practicable—in order that the power of the North may be divided. We know what the Yankees have threatened—we know how they have licked their lips at the prospect of annexing Canada—we know how thoroughly they hate the frankness and truth and courage that go to make up an English man—and we are therefore fully justified in rejoicing when we find their power for working mischief becoming more and more limited. We remember their attempt at bullying—we have not forgotten the Island of San Juan business—and we recollect the avidity with which they seized every opportunity of parading and flinging at us their foul mouthed insults. It is, then, but natural that we should feel a positive sense of enjoyment when we see them writhing under the lash and groveling in the dust beneath the foot of a conqueror. The South is doing the work that we should have had to accomplish if the North had its own way for another five years. It is giving the Yankees the thrashing we should have had to inflict at no very distant day. It is relieving us from what would have been an expensive and troublesome duty, and the more completely the North is smashed up the longer will it be before we shall be called upon to teach them the manners of gentlemen and the laws of nations. We are, of course, sorry that so much blood should be shed, but the interests of humanity would not be better served than by bleeding the Americans until filibustering and rowdyism, conceit and brag, faint and die. So long as they continue to brag, so long is it good for them to be defeated and overthrown, and it is only when they have learned to act and talk like brave and true men, that it is desirable for this war to end. They require a good deal of blood letting yet, and unfortunately they are likely to have it. A few more battles—another hundred thousand rowdies slain—and America may be in a hopeful state. But what would be the best for England is that they should be divided in to two.

Lagrange, Mississippi.—A correspondent of the New York World, writing lately from this place, thus speaks of the town and its inhabitants:

Lagrange has been in former times a sort of Athens of Tennessee and Northern Mississippi. It boasts of several large and imposing wooden buildings, once used as seminaries for the young ladies and gentlemen of this region. It has its share of the old fashioned tumble-down structures, several of which have been converted into quarters for the contrabands, who flock into our lines in great numbers. There are several creditable attempts at tasteful grounds, though the effect is generally marred by some outre or vulgar association. The town lots are large, and the site is really eligible for a beautiful city. But few of the inhabitants remain, most of the able bodied men having long ago been drawn into the rebel army. Haggard looking widows and scornful looking maidens, dressed up in all the ends and odds of a rag bag, with gaiters long worn down, are all of feminine gentility which meet the eye. Groceries, dry goods, and even corn meal, are scarce. Sutlers could do a grand business if it were allowed. Permits must be obtained from the Provost Marshal for small articles, and nothing is allowed to be sold to citizens except for family consumption.

Foraging on the Rebels.—A correspondent of the New York World, stationed at Lagrange, Mississippi, thus speaks of soldiers' raids:

It is useless to expect that an army advancing through deserted towns and houses in the enemy's country will leave everything just as they found it, such things never were. The corps of Gen. Hamilton, as also that of Gen McPherson, on their way hither pillaged, plundered and burned every house, fence and hen roost on the way. It is not an unusual thing to see a cavalryman with a tapestry rug doing duty as a saddle blanket, or a fine rocking-chair in front of his tent. Hogs, cattle and fruits all suffer. We do not allude to this as showing any effect upon the inhabitants. There is no populace to incense. Conciliation is as vain as outrage. All the men are gone, and those who remain are neither to be coaxed nor forced into a show of loyalty. Neither is the rule infallible that thieving soldiers are cowards. As our soldiers advanced upon Medon, a little town north of here held by the enemy, fifty of our men with side arms stole into the place for plunder and met the enemy, and after a severe struggle succeeded in capturing a hundred of the enemy. This gratified them more than the few chickens and trinkets they expected to procure.

Oregonians.—A Washington letter of the 2d of December, contains this notice of Messrs Harding and McBride:

Senator Harding was elected by a Union Legislature to fill the vacancy made by the death of the gifted Baker, succeeds Stark, Secesh, who was appointed by Gov Whiteaker of Oregon. The new Senator is a plain looking and plain speaking man who has an honest, intelligent face and will probably prove a useful Senator, if not anything more brilliant. John R. McBride, member elect from Oregon to the next Congress, is here to study legislation, see the sights, and like a sensible man, fit himself for the duties of the next session of Congress.

Yale College.—The annual catalogue of Yale College shows a grand total of 617 students, 460 in the academical department and 157 in those of theology, law, medicine philosophy and the arts. The senior class is the largest, consisting of 122 pupils. The Faculty and Staff of Instruction comprise 38 members, including the President, Professors, Librarian and special teachers. The annual charge in the Treasurer's bill for tuition, room rent and incidental expenses is $80. Board, on an average, is about $3 25 a week. The total number of volumes in the several libraries which are open to students is about 70,000. The whole annual expense of an education at this college, including board, is $250.

Gillis and McKay.—The San Francisco One o'clock News says that some persons have blamed General Wright for releasing McKay and Gillis, formerly confined in Alcatraz. The General doubtless acted in obedience to an order from the War Department at Washington on the 22d ult, under which all political military prisoners in the East were released. A part of said order reads as follows: Ordered, First—That all persons now in military custody, who have been arrested for discouraging volunteer enlistments, opposing the draft, or for otherwise giving aid and comfort to the enemy, in States where the draft has been made or the quota of volunteers or militia has been furnished, shall be discharged from their further military restraint.

Closing up Copartnership Affairs

In the presence of a wide merchant and [illegible] two distinguished members of the [illegible] Sariol and Turban by name, entered into articles of [illegible] for the purchase of a small keg of brandy, with the understanding that it was to be peddled out by the glass at the fete of St. Denis, the annual fete of a village in the environs of the capital, the terms of the association being that the profit of the venture should be equally divided between the two merchants. Everything was drawn up in due form, and among the various articles of the agreement was one [illegible] a smaller [illegible].

On the evening of the first day that the parties commenced operations both Sariol and Turban were picked up by the police in a most woful plight, their garments in rags, their eyes [illegible] mourning, and their scalps partially denuded of their capillary embellishments. Their transformed condition may be summed up in two words—an empty keg, and a copper coin of the value of two sous.

Appearing on the following morning before the police tribunal, charged with assault and battery and resistance to the public authorities, the following thoroughly Frenchy facts were elicited:

The two speculators had duly started for the fair grounds at St Denis, taking with them the keg of brandy. Upon arriving at the suburb of La Chapelle, Sariol said to Turban, "Turban, my boy, I think I'll take a stiffener," to which Turban replied "Well, that's cool anyhow! You know, I s'pose, that that ere brandy isn't yours alone, it belongs to us both." "That's so," returned Sariol, "and I'll tell you how we'll manage it: the price of a smaller is four sous, so I'll just give you two sous, and that'll make us square." "All right," said Turban, mollified; "that's fair enough." So Sariol gave his partner the two sous piece and took his stiffener.

The pair had gone but a short distance further when Turban suddenly remarked, "I think I'll take a reviver now, myself." "Of course you mean to pay me two sous?" said Sariol. "To be sure I do," answered the other. Whereupon he drank a glass of brandy, and handed back the copper. After plodding on another mile, Sariol broke in with, "By Jingo! I go in for goods at half price. As a smaller costs me two sous instead of four, I'll take another." To which Turban agreed at once, and again received the two sous piece. Five minutes afterward he told Sariol that his logic was quite correct—two sous for a glass of grog was an unprecedentedly low price—took a drink, and once more returned the copper coin. And so it went on, at frequent intervals, until the pair had reached St Dennis congratulating themselves upon their happy discovery of brandy at half price. It is superfluous to add that when they arrived, they were not particularly attentive to business, and were struck with the single idea that the more they drank the more money they made. Governed by this notion, they rapidly circulated the two sous piece, until the keg was at last found to be empty, whereupon Turban suddenly exclaimed—"Hallo, how's this? We bought six francs' worth of brandy, it's all out, and there's only two sous in the till!" "What d'ye mean by only two sous?" "That's all there is, my boy." "Then by thunder you've robbed the cash box!" This was the signal for a bout at fisticuffs, followed by the interference of the police, when the two partners turned their united forces against the officers, were overcome by superior numbers, captured, lodged in the nearest station house, examined the next morning, and sent to durance vile for eight days.—No moral is necessary.—Cor N Y Express.

"Laugh and Grow Fat."—I live in a constant endeavor to fence against the infirmities of ill health, and other evils of life, by mirth, being firmly persuaded that every time a man smiles—but much more when he laughs—it adds something to this fragment of life.—Sterne.
